

DRAMA CLUB NEWS

Now On The Net

The Drama Club's website has recently been revamped at www.lockerbiedramaclub.net and it includes pictures from some of our recent productions

The Drama Club can also be found on Facebook and on Twitter (@LockerbieDrama)

We were also recently visited by Bill Jardine of Annandale TV (www.annandale.tv) who did some filming which we hope will appear on the site in the run-up to our next show.

Visiting Groups

The Isosceles Theatre Group will be paying us a return visit on 4th June. You may remember "On Our Way to Lisbon" last year.

By way of contrast there will be an evening of oriental dance in the theatre on the 21st May in association with the Arts Festival.

Further events are being firmed up for August and September

Caught In The Net

Lockerbie Drama Club's next production will be "Caught In The Net" by Ray Cooney. This farce is the sequel to the hit comedy, "Run For Your Wife" and features taxi driver John Smith with his two wives and children. It also features his long-suffering friend and lodger, Stanley along with his doddery old Dad.

When it was first performed in 2001 London Theatre Guide said, "I'm sure Cooney's new comedy is going to be another smash hit. It deserves to be!"

The play requires one set to serve for two houses, with action taking place in both houses simultaneously on the same set. This has kept the cast on their toes during rehearsals but makes for a very funny show.

The play will run from 28th April to 2nd May and tickets will be available from the Cumberland Building Society from the 14th April. Telephone bookings can be made at: 01576 202777 or 01576 202257. Tickets are £7 (full price) and £5 (children and Associate Members). On the first night 2 tickets cost £12
